

MAS2011 Final Project

Introduction to Visual Media Programming (MAS2011-01)

Main Concept

I got inspiration for my final project from the flowers and snowflakes that fall from the sky. In particular, I also have expectations for the upcoming winter and spring seasons.

Purpose

When it's difficult to present a bouquet to your acquaintances one by one, it gives you the opportunity to play the game and create an image of an online bouquet as a reward.

Let's share our emotions and joy for each other at the busy end and beginning of the year.

Game Section

1.

Collecting flowers

2.

Design Your own bouquet

This simple game is largely composed of two stages. The first step is to collect materials for making bouquets. In the second step, the user can configure the combination of flowers in the bouquet on his own, and a simple greeting can be written.

1. Collecting Flowers

A multicolored flower falls from the sky, and the user takes it into the basket. A certain amount of flowers of all colors must be collected, and the collection status for each color is displayed at the top of the screen. (If you collect only certain flowers indefinitely, you will not be able to move on, and you will need to collect all colors.)

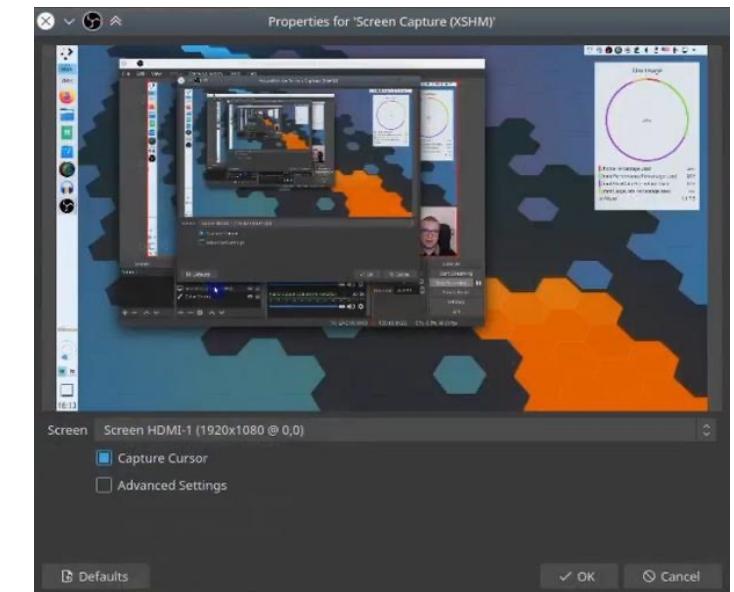

1. Collecting Flowers

It also has the effect of falling leaves. Collecting fallen leaves reduces HP and puts you in danger of game over, as it interferes with the production of fresh bouquets. As flower collection reaches its target level, the number of deciduous leaves increases and the number of petals decreases, increasing the difficulty level (as four seasons go by).

2. Design your own bouquet

Once you have completed the collection, you will proceed to the second step. Users can create their own customized bouquet images using the color palette of the collected flowers. You can create an E-card by adding a customized message, and when you click Finish, the image is automatically saved to your device.
